ANSWER CHOICES	RESPONSES
Yes	58.82% 10
No	41.18% 7

Total Respondents: 17

- I just changed location to a store rental on St. Lawrence Street so this increases my walk-in sales.
- Foot traffic has decreased on our street.
- Wedding & events venue, decor rentals and cakes so I hope so.
- Demands levels will continue for my business if I spend more time networking and reaching out. So actually, the answer would be "yes". That being said I am working full time with no time to network or reach out due to my workload. The workload I have is enough to cover costs and barely profit. So, it is like a treadmill at the moment.

#6 How confident are you in the strength of the economy?

- It's a family run business so no employees.
- Self employed.
- Our small retail business is too small for this to really apply.
- Employing persons at the same wage I make ($2-3 above minimum wage) (I make what I make because the industry can only charge so much for the services I produce) is not long-term viable or healthy.

#11 What should the region's focus be to address workforce shortages?

Answered: 8

Skipped: 14

- Grants for youth employment programs.
- Funding for existing businesses.
- Advertise that jobs are available.
- More sustainable business.
- Public transportation between towns would be a huge asset.
- Supporting local, less social assistance where not necessary and instead more incentive to be working.
- I think that living in this "rural" area can be an advantage and showing the pros of moving to this area.
- There are too many individuals making too much money as opposed to more people making enough. In my region specifically, the reputation for the municipal workers and services is not in positive light. It takes too long for people to respond to requests and there is no reason for them to worry about it, they get paid the salary regardless. There is no motivation for them to do better or be more reliable. They are short on staff and have no plans to grow (and probably can't when you are paying 1 individual 100K a year).

#12 What are the 3 top areas of support that would be most helpful to your business right now?

Answered: 13

Skipped: 9

Advertising/Marketing

- Marketing. x2
- Advertising.
- Attracting customers /return customers.
- Clients.
- Spreading the word about our business locally.

Digital Support

- Web design.
- Press/Internet/Social media presence.

Employer Services

- Help navigating any funding job boards.
- Help connecting qualified workers to job openings worker etiquette- proper replying to job applications, job offers, communicating with potential employers.
- Business plan / direction.

Other

- Funding.
- Business taxes.
- Increased online sales.
- Lower fuel costs.
- More emphasis on supporting local.
- Helping me to grow my business.
- Helping small business expand their buildings.
- Leeds Grenville community control and returning emails to resolve.
- Improve bottlenecks in supply chain especially due to net zero emissions politics.
- Foot traffic increases. Side street flowers, flags and road maintenance. Currently zero.
- Make all services and events open to all regardless of vaccination status going into the future.
- Rework of the bidding / tender system. All of the bids (and I am thankful to even be asked) go to the lowest bidder by default. This is a toxic and flawed system. If I outsource goods and services outside of my country (China) and resell them for the bare minimum increase / profit I will win the bid when someone using local product sand local workforce could have been given that bid.

#12 continued...

- There is little to no support for small businesses when it comes to hiring or employing individuals locally. When you are responsible for making enough to pay someone a competitive wage (benefits, health care, paid vacation and sick days) but struggle to pay yourself, that doesn't make sense does it? - Regional support for local businesses – buying products from the local businesses in your region as opposed to outsourcing thousands a year from other provinces would greatly improve the long-term success of said small businesses.

#13 What are your expectations for 2023?

Answered: 13

Skipped: 9

Positive

- Increased sales & profit.
- I am now selling my skincare line, bath & shower products and wellness creams in two Pharma Choice pharmacies. I would like to grow this to more locations. Since I am the only employee, I need to know how to do this and increase my inventory volume.
- Moderate.
- Slow growth is our hope.
- To double our numbers.
- To be better than 2022.

Survival

- To keep the doors open to provide the best brick and mortar floral service
- Stay afloat.
- Hope to keep head above water, return to normal.
- To hopefully not go bankrupt.

Other

- Big Recession!
- Municipality elections will bring changes.
- I expect that demand will stay the same with a little drop after 2023 due to the increase in costs, shipping, inflation and with the decrease in local spending compounded by international companies selling online.

- Most of my business is person to person sales but slow times in the winter of a tourist town are a challenge. I make all of my products and also work the retail store paying a retail employee is a challenge but would be ideal.
- Not sure how to grow my business as it's starting to get overwhelming for me to supply the pharmacies and Ottawa Artisans stores. I am also selling my products in three Ottawa Artisans locations - Bayshore, St. Laurent and Tanger Outlets.
- I am currently selling my business. COVID was difficult, but we managed with a well-seasoned staff. This past season has been my biggest challenge in 20 years of running my business. Staffing was nearly impossible and we had to reduce our hours/days of the week. This obviously impacted our bottom line, but also disappointed our customers. While I had decided to sell before the summer, I am doubling my efforts now. I do not want to spend another summer like the last one!
- Biggest challenges for me is getting tourists to walk down Merrickville side streets. All decorations of flowers and streetscape, phone pole flags do not extend down our commercial side streets. Side streets with businesses are neglected and continually overlooked by municipality, and provinces.

#15 continued...

- The township is our highest liability... too much red tape.
- Gender bias against home-based businesses.
- This really covers some serious issues in my region as well as MANY regions throughout Ontario.
